The Great are Falling from Us

BY T. S. HANAHAN READ.

The great are falling from us--the dust

Our flag droops midway, full of many sighs;

A nation's glory and a people's trust

Lies in the simple path where Webster lies.

The great are falling from us--one by one

As fall the patriarchs of the forest tree;

The winds shall seek them vainly, and the sun

Gaze on each vacant space for centuries.

Le, Carolina mourns her steadfast pine,

Which, like a minaret, tower'd above her realm;

And Ashland heeds no more the "dying" divine

From out the branches of her stately elm.

And Marshall's giant oak, whose stately bough

Of turned the ocean tempest from the West,

Lies in the shadow of a long and now

Our startled eagle knows not where to rest.

The four great States, New York,

Pennsylvania, Ohio and Virginia all vote together for a Democratic President--a thing which has not happened since 1822

when they all rallied round the standard of Andrew Jackson.

We agreed with the Boston Courier that those who voted for Gen. Pierce, and those who did not, have now a common duty in regard to his administration, namely: to watch it well, support it when right and oppose it when wrong.

A new order of Methodists has been formed in Georgia, who retain the doctrine, whilst they reject the Discipline of the Methodist Church. In Government

they are congregational.

and, for human interference, she hen-

would have retained possession of her fel-

FANNY FERN.--The New York Musical World announces that Fanny has been engaged to write exclusively for that paper. Fanny, we believe, is a sister of the editor of the Musical World, and of N. P. Willis, one of the editors of the Home Journal. She has been noted of late as a correspondent of the Olive Branch, and a woman of mark--quaint,

smart and clever.

He committed the deed with a pocket

knife, in the presence of a little daughter, whom he told previously what he was about to do. He inflicted twelve wounds

UNCLE JOHN'S VISIT.

A STORY FOR THE TIMES.

BY MARTHA RUSSELL.

CONCLUDED.

CHAPTER II.

"Black Simon" was looked after, and talked to for a few moments, much as if he had been a child; and then, instead of returning to the warm sitting room of the hotel, or the elegant parlor of Mr. Jimp's,

the old man sturdily ploughed his way along the snow streets, until he reached the suburbs of the city.

Here he slackened his steps, and paused occasionally to decipher, by the dim light of the lamps, the numbers of some of the dilapidated buildings which lined the streets. At last he approached one,

from which issued the sound of music and dancing, and knocked loudly at the door. It was opened by a rosy-cheeked

Irish girl, in a gay ball costume and dirty white slippers.

"Is there a family by the name of Ives living in this house?" asked the old man.

"Yes, there is, the poor craters; but not in there, sir," was the reply, as she saw Mr. Markham about to lay hold of the latch of a door near by. "That is Teddy McGuire's room. The Ives are above, sir. I'll be showin' you the way, an' ye please."

Uncle John looked the girl up and down, dry stairs, asking by the way

(for the old man was a bit of a Yankee) what was the cause of the festivity below.

"A wedding, sir, Mikey Flaherty is married to Tith Duolan's Bridget to-night," replied the girl, with a smile, adding,

as she pointed to a door at the extreme end of the passage, "It's there ye will find them ye seek."

The old man turned to thank her, but she was already half way down stairs,

stepping to the lively measure of an Irish jig; so he walked on, and knocked gently

at the door which the girl had pointed out. It was opened by the same pale-faced child whom he had seen in his nephew's store. She looked up to him with a quick glance of recognition, mingled with surprise, and then glanced towards her mother, who sat leaning over a miserable bed, on which lay a little child, over whose face the ashen hue of death was already stealing. Seeing that her mother did not observe the stranger she said--

"It's the gentleman who opened the door for me to-day, mother."

Thus disturbed, the woman looked up, questioningly, almost impatiently, at the intruder.

"Excuse me, ma'am," began the old man, in an apologetic tone, but deliberately shutting the door behind him. "I fear I intrude; but the little girl is right.

I am glad to find she got home safe. My nephew, Mr. Jimp's, did not quite understand the child, it seems, and I have come to make it all straight; and he handed out a five dollar bill as he spoke.

The woman took the bill, looked at it a moment, and returned it with a heavy sigh.

"I cannot charge it, sir. I have not a cent of money in the world."

"It's all right, ma'am. I don't want any change--I mean Mr. Jimp's don't he isn't at all particular--that is--I say keep it, ma'am, you need it all, and more too, in such weather as this."

The woman looked at him with a single wonder and suspicion. At length

she said:

"There is a mistake, sir. Mr. Jimp's is a very particular man. He owes me one dollar, and it may bring both of us into trouble if I keep the money."

"Take it, I say. Youndal have not

I ought to do as I please with my--meanings Mr. Jimp's a right to do what he pleases with his money? Take it, and make yourself comfortable."

The woman waited to be urged no more

she eagerly clutched the money, and burst into tears, as she cried--

"The blessing of those ready to perish be upon you both, sir. I should not have sent out to day, but we have neither food nor fuel, and little Jennie is dying!"

"Have you no one whom you can send out after food and fuel?" asked the old man with a glance towards the farther corner of the room, where, from beneath a pile of rags, came the heavy breathing of a man.

"Yes," returned the woman, as with a troubled expression her eye followed him;

but William, poor fellow, is not well.

He is worn out," she went on, with a sigh, "with care, and want, and trouble. If you will be kind enough to stay with Ellen, sir, I will run down myself, and get what we want. It's only two doors from here," she added, seeing the old man about to remonstrate.

There was something in her manner that recalled to the old man Mr. Jimp's remark about her husband's intemperate habits. She fears to trust him with the money, and perhaps she is right, thought he, as he drew the scanty covering over

THE TRIBUNE.

Daniel Webster's Private Life.

The following letter the N. Y. Commercial copies from the proof sheets of the "Private Life of Daniel Webster," now in the press of Harper & Brothers, from the pen of Charles Lannan, Esq. It is exceedingly interesting, and the conclusion is touching. It was addressed to his Franklin (verser):

WASHINGTON, March 17, 1852. JOHN TAYLOR—Go ahead. The heart is the winter is broken, and before the 1st day of April all your land may be plowed. But the oxen from Capt. Marse, if you think the price fair, pay for the tax. I send you a check for $100 for the oxen. For the great oxen to be plowed on the next best day to a little wife will be. Cultivate your garden. Be sure to produce sufficient quantities of useful vegetables. A man may half support his family from a good garden. Take care to keep my number garden in good order, even if it cost you the wages of a man to take care of it. I have sent you many garden seeds. Distribute them among your neighbors. Send them to the stores in the village, that everybody may have a part of them without cost. I am glad that you have chosen Mr. Pike representative. He is a true man; but there are in New Hampshire many persons who will themselves whigs, who are no whigs at all, and no better than disunionists—any man who hesitates in granting and securing to every part of the country its just and constitutional rights, is an enemy to the whole country.

John Taylor if one of your boys should say that he honors father and mother, and loves brother and sister, but still insists that one of them shall be driven out of the family, what can you say of him but this, that there is no real family love about him? You and I are far from being new talk politicians; our talk is of oxen, but remember this—that any man who attempts to excite one part of the country against another, is just as wicked as he would be who should attempt to get up a quarrel between John Taylor and his neighbor, old John Sanborn, or his other neighbor, Captain Barleigh. There are some animals that live best in fire; and there are some men who delight in heat, smoke, combustion and other configurations. They do not follow the things that make for peace. They enjoy only controversy, contention and strife. Have no communion with such persons, either as neighbors or politicians. You have no more right to say that slavery ought not to exist in Virginia than a Virginian has to say that slavery ought to exist in New Hampshire. This is a question left to every man to decide for himself; and if we mean to keep the States together, we must leave to every State this power of deciding for itself.

I think I never wrote you a word before on the subject of politics. I shall not do it again. I only say love your country, and your whole country; and when men attempt to persuade you to get into a quarrel with the laws of other States, tell them that you mean to mind your own business, and advise them to mind theirs. John Taylor, you are a free man; you possess good principles; you have a large family to rear and provide for by your labor. Be thankful to the government which does not oppress you, which does not bear you down by excessive taxation, but which holds out to you and to yours the hope of all the blessings which liberty, in honesty and security may give. John Taylor, thank God morning and evening that you were born in such a country. John Taylor, never write me another word on politics. Give my kindest remembrance to your wife and children; and when you look from your eastern windows upon the graves of my family, remember that he who is the author of this letter, most soon follow them to another world.

DANIEL WEBSTER.

WASHINGTON, MARCH 17, 1852. "The 'Crazy' folks in the Asylum at Hartford, Ct. mix a gall of alcohol with a gallon of soft soap, just as they are going to rub it on the clothes, which they then soak two or three hours, and then merely rinse out in clear water, and the dirt is out as effectually as any sense is out of a fellow after drinking the same quantity of the poisonous stuff. Just tell the women that this is the easiest way to make washing easy, and urge them to try it, and you will thereafter have no reason to run away on a washing day. In washing stains and passages, always use a sponge instead of a cloth when washing the space between the carpet and the wall, and you will not soil the edges. Sponges are cheap, and this information is cheap, but it is invaluable to all housekeepers.—Plot.

We have been informed that in one precinct in this (Lynn) Boy's congressional district, the polls were opened on Monday the 1st, instead of Tuesday, the 2nd—the impression having, in some way, got out that Monday was the election day. Most of the votes of the precinct were given before the discovery of the error was made. The polls were opened again next day, but the people were deterred from voting by the fear of being prosecuted for voting twice. In another precinct they are said to have kept the polls open three days, after the old fashion. But we don't believe these stories.—Palmetto (Ky.) Jour.

Different sounds will travel with different velocity—a call to dinner will run over a tea-party in a moment and a half, while a summons to return to work takes from five to eight minutes.

Further from Mexico—Progress of the Revolutionists—Santa Anna requested to return to Power, &c.

NEW ORLEANS, N. Y. 10. Private letters from the city of Mexico are said to represent revolutionary movements spreading rapidly, and that in Guadalajara they presented a most formidable aspect. A Congress had been summoned, to be composed of two delegates from each State, whose duty it would be to elect a President ad interim, and also bring about a reform in the constitution.

General Santa Anna had been called upon, but by whom is not said, to resume the reins of Government, as the man best suited to the emergency. General Urquiza had also been invited to head the movement to bring about his return; but his arrest had been ordered by the Government.

The Legislature of the State of Guadalajara, had met to adopt measures as to the best course to be pursued. Nothing new had transpired concerning the Tehuantepec Treaty. Ramirez was preparing a document on the subject for publication.

The revolutionary movements in all parts of the country continue, and it is reported that the Government troops were about to join the insurgents, which was not unlikely, as all confidence seems lost, and no change, it is thought, can be for the worse.

The Administration and the Cuban Difficulty.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17. The Republic has a long defense of the administration relative to the Cuban difficulty. In it, the course of Mr. Law is denounced of filibustering device to fan the flame of public excitement, and if possible involve the two countries in the horrors of war, and the repeated sending of Smith to Havana as a discreditable attempt to bully the Captain General into a surrender of his position rightfully held.

The Administration will maintain to the fullest extent, the right of American vessels to trade with Havana, and will guard unflinchingly the rights of American citizens visiting Cuba who do not compromise themselves by an infraction of the local laws. Further than this, it will not enter into a war to gratify the caprice of an individual or company to serve the purpose of desperate adventurers or to punish Spain for an act in which she is sustained by the common law of nations.

The article concludes by asserting that, while the administration is prepared to uphold the rights of commerce and protect and vindicate all proper privileges of our citizens, it is neither prepared or disposed to call in question the prerogative claimed by Cuba with regard to the exclusion of Purser Smith.

The administration stands where it stood fifteen months ago; unflinching by clamor at home, unswayed by threats from abroad. It will adhere to principles of honor and honesty and will carry them out at sea or on land without reference to consequences.

The Republic, however, states the refusal of the Captain General to allow the mails and passengers to be landed was an act of defiance to the United States, offensive to the Government and the country, and calculated to excite a retaliating temper on the part of the American people.

FERN LEAVES.

BY FANNY FERN.

Folly.—For girls to expect to be happy without marriage. Every woman is made for a mother; consequently babies are as necessary to their peace of mind as health. If you wish to look at melancholy and indigestion, look at an old maid. If you would take a peep at sunshine, look in the face of a young mother. Now, I won't stand that! I'm an old maid myself and I'm neither melancholy nor indigestible! My "piece of mind" I'm going to give you (in a minute) and I never want to touch a baby, except with a pair of tongs! Young mothers and sunshine! Worn to fiddling strings before they are twenty five. When an old maid turns up, he thinks he sees his grandmother instead of the dear little Mary who used to make him feel as if he should crawl out of the toes of his boots! Yes! my mind is quite made up about matrimony; but as to "babies"—sometimes I think, and then again I don't know—but on the whole, I believe I consider them a d—-sided bump! It is a one sided partnership, this marriage! the wife casts up all accounts!

"Husband" gets up in the morning and pays his "devoirs" to the looking glass—curls his fore head of hair, puts on an immaculate shirt bosom, ties an execrable cravat, sprinkles his handkerchief with cologne, snuffs away a French roll, an egg, and a cup of coffee, gets into the omnibus, looks languishingly at the pretty girls, and makes love between the pauses of business during the forenoon generally. Wife must hermetically seal the windows, and exclude all the fresh air (because the baby had the "stuffles" in the night) and sits gazing down to the table, more dead than alive to finish her breakfast. Tommy turns a cup of hot coffee down his bosom, Juliana has torn the string off her school bonnet, James wants his Geography covered, Edna can find her satchel, the butcher wants to know if she'd like to have a joint of mutton, the milkman would like to have his money, the ice man would like to speak to her just a minute, the baby swallows a Lean, husband sends the boy home from the store to say his partner will dine with him, the cook leaves "all flying" to go to her sister's dead baby's wake, and husband's duty coat must be ironed before noon. "Suns, time, and young mothers! Where's my sun's'ling bottle!"

Woman! she requires no eulogy. "Lucky they don't! They wouldn't get it from me; I've had enough of them—I have. I've crossed over to the 'Philistines,' and I never dare to speak to one of them lest he should be a lover or husband to one of these viragos. Just cross the track once of some female friend (I either in love or literature. Horrors and needless the way you'll get demolished! not that they won't smile on you just the same; but wait till your back is turned—if the dissecting knife of friendship don't take you to pieces till your mental skeleton is an anatomical curiosity, set me down for a fool! The book you wrote will be miserable and unfeminine! they disapprove your style entirely! to one at the very time they are trying a poor imitation of it themselves. Then just let them catch you looking at a gentleman they have mentally appropriated, they'll compass heaven and earth but they'll put their foot on your presuming neck! Now, I know I shall get my eyes scratched out for this, but never mind, I'm used to it; in fact it's a pleasant little excitement! There's too many women in the world by half. There ain't room enough for 'em, unless Congress annexes the moon. E. C. I once wanted a world of hearts to herself, and it stands to reason they can't have it, and what's more they shant while I'm about. Ferns are said to be green, but I know better! Some of 'em are blue, and they are rank poison to some people, too, unless they let 'em alone!

GARRARD CIRCUIT COURT.—In the case of the Commonwealth vs. Jesse Hill and others, upon an indictment for the murder of John Sellers, in the "Tobacco House Fight." A separate trial was awarded to Wm. Hill, who was acquitted. F. Hill died since the last term of the Court. The recognition of Dr. O. P. Hill was forfeited. Sagercy and Jesse Hill—same order as in No. 1, as to O. P. Hill and John Brown.

Commonwealth vs. Samuel Evans, Jackson May, Samuel Evans, James Evans, and Thos. Evans, for the murder of Sutherland; joint trial, and the defendants acquitted.

Same vs. same, for malicious shooting. The Court is now engaged in selecting a jury for the trial of Joseph Murphy, indicted for the murder of Jesse May. Very few civil suits have been tried, in fact none of importance on the Common law side of the docket. We understand there will be a called term in January.

WE have just received, in addition to our large stock of Fall and Winter Dry Goods, the following articles:

IN UNION THERE IS STRENGTH.

DANVILLE, KY.,
Friday Morning, Nov. 26, 1852.

THE STOCKHOLDERS OF THE LEXINGTON AND DANVILLE RAILROAD.—We are requested by the Treasurer of this road to state that there are a number of subscribers of stock who are delinquent in payment of the calls due. The money is needed by the company to meet its engagements with the contractors, who are now at work on the road with a large force. The monthly estimates will amount to from $10,000 to $50,000, and this the Board have to meet. The Stockholders must pay, in order to carry on the work. We therefore give notice to all to forward at the Railroad Office, and make payment of the calls due on their stock.

—In order to give the hands in our office a taste of holiday yesterday, we are compelled to omit several communications, advertisements, &c.

—Our friend, Mr. W. H. HEFFNER, formerly of this place, but now of California, has our thanks for a package of late San Francisco papers.

—Mr. H. B. RHOTON, a graduate of this office, will accept our thanks for several packages of St. Louis papers.

—Agreeably to the proclamation of Gov. Powell, yesterday was appropriately observed by our citizens as a day of Thanksgiving. Secular business was generally suspended, and religious services held in several of the churches.

—Remember MARCH's great sale of Carpets and House Furnishing Goods at Lexington, on Monday next.

—We call the attention of the reader to the advertisements of our friend HAYT. He has a beautiful and large stock of Jewelry, Fancy articles, Toys, &c., which he promises to sell cheaper than such articles were ever sold in this market. Give him a call.

HUGE PUMPKINS.—Mrs. S. L. WILSON, of this county, has our thanks for a couple of Mammoth Pumpkins, the largest one weighing 75½ pounds. They were emphatically "some pumpkins" of the best quality, and came just in time to afford us pumpkin pies for Thanksgiving day.

—Tobacco is a "nasty weed," and the chewing of it is a nasty practice, but people will use it, and neither the experience of others nor the advice of physicians will make them quit it. This is a deplorable fact, and shows the weakness of human nature, but as it is just so, those addicted to the use of the weed, should always chew a good article, which they can procure by calling at Mr. JOHN H. CALDWELL'S. That he has a superior quality we can amply testify, as we are now busily engaged in demolishing a couple of twists of it.

SENTENCE.—Watson Nuckols, a young man of Washington county, charged with stealing a horse from G. W. Dougherty, Esq., Sheriff of this county, a short time since, was tried at the present Chancery and Criminal term of the Boyle Circuit Court, convicted, and sentenced to the penitentiary for four years.

—Jim McGinnis, a free man of color, was convicted of stealing a small sum of money from an old negro woman in the county, and sentenced to the penitentiary for two years.

LEAKING OUT.—The Buffalo, Republic, a prominent Loco-foco organ, in a labored editorial urges that Gen. Pierce owes it to the Democratic party of the State of New York, to place Martin Van Buren at the head of the State Department. What will Gen. Pierce's Southern supporters say to this suggestion.

DEVELOPMENTS ABOUT CUBA.—The National Intelligencer publishes six columns of correspondence between James Buchanan, when Secretary of State under President Polk, and R. M. Sanders, Minister to Spain, authorizing him on the part of President Polk, to offer $100,000 to the Government of Spain for the purchase of Cuba. The proposition was promptly though courteously, but absolutely declined.

TO BE HUNG.—Wm. Howard, charged with the murder of Henry Driehaus, in Louisville, in November last, having obtained a change of venue to Oldham county, was tried at Lagrange last week, and convicted. He was sentenced to be hung on Friday, the 14th of January 1853.

This trial has created considerable excitement in Louisville, Howard acknowledges that he killed Driehaus, but protests that he committed the deed without malice.

OUR RAILROAD—Duty of Stockholders.

The friends of the Lexington and Danville Railroad will be gratified to learn that the contractors are actively at work on the grade. There are now, as we are informed, over 100 hands at work on the line. This number will be increased to from 150 to 200 before the 1st of March, and by that time a very much larger force will be put upon the work. The contractors are said to be energetic and industrious men, and will push the work through to an early completion.

But money is necessary to meet the monthly expenditures incurred by the employment of so great a force. The company have ample means to construct and complete the road in eighteen months if the stockholders will do their duty, and pay the calls promptly. This they should do without being urged to it. We trust all will feel the necessity of paying their calls, in order to enable the company to keep its engagement with the contractors. Let every stockholder come up to his part of the work, and the directors will put this road through in the shortest practicable time.

GOOD NEWS.—RAILROAD EXTENSION.—It gives us pleasure to announce to the friends of the Lexington and Danville Railroad, that the sum of $500,000 has been subscribed in the counties south of us for the extension of our railroad toward M'innville, Tenn. This we believe secures the construction of the road through to a connection with the Chattanooga road. There is great confidence felt by the friends of the enterprise that Cincinnati and other points interested will lend efficient aid to the road. We understand that the subject will be presented to the citizens and corporate authorities of Cincinnati in a short time, and that urgent solicitations will be made for aid at other points. The citizens of the counties south of us have acted with most commendable zeal and public spirit in this great work. No people have ever acted more nobly and generously in a great public work.

It is worthy of mention, and may be made without any one feeling it to be invidious, that Clayton Miller, Esq., of Adair, has richly illustrated the liberality of a public spirited citizen, by subscribing twenty-five thousand dollars of stock to the extension of our road. He is the largest original subscriber and stockholder to railroads in this State, and his example is worthy of all imitation. We trust there may be others found who will do likewise.

PRESTON ELECTED.—Col. Wm. PRESTON (Whig) has made a most triumphant and astonishing race in the Louisville District to fill the vacancy in Congress caused by Mr. Marshall's resignation. His opponent, Mr. Sanders, was absolutely "no where." Preston's majority in the city of Louisville is 1,370; in Jefferson county about 100; and in the entire District, 1,724. That's the way for Whigs to vote.

THE MAJORITY.—We publish to-day the full returns of the vote of this State for President at the late election, thus settling the question as to Gen. Scott's majority. 3,347 is quite a handsome majority, under the circumstances. We think Kentucky has done nobly, and we are proud of our native State. Gen. Scott was not the choice of her people in Convention, but when he was selected as the standard bearer of the Whig party, and the election came on, although those States which clamored for his nomination, deserted him and aided in producing our unparalleled defeat, Kentucky stood as true as steel, and nobly cast her vote for Whig men and measures. We are badly beaten, but Kentucky gave no aid nor comfort to the enemy. On the contrary, she now occupies the proud position of the brightest star to illuminate the darkness of Loco-focism which covers the land.

—In 1836, the New York Express says, the Whigs were so greatly in the minority, and so disorganized as a party, that they nearly failed to make a national nomination, and yet in four years afterwards they swept the country, with Harrison as their candidate, against the combined power and influence and patronage of the National and State Governments. Such, with proper landmarks, it is by no means unlikely will be their fortune in 1856. They are now defeated by a combination of factions which has no parallel in the history of this country, and which cannot bear the test of time, and be held together in support of any administration as it was rallied in support of Gen. Pierce. A combination of such elements as Free-soilers and Nullifiers, Unionists and Secessionists, Navvies and foreigners. Tariff-men and Freetraders, Improvement men and anti-Improvement men, cannot long be held together and unite in support of any administration.

—Among the items from China is a horrible story of the murder of fifty thousand persons, men, women, and children, by the Rebels, in a successful assault upon the city of Chuchow. The slaughter is said to have lasted for three days and three nights. The account is not authenticated.

ELECTION NEWS.

We have received the full returns from States as follows:

	Scott.	Pierce.	Hale.	Others

ILLINOIS.—Returns from 92 counties show a majority for Pierce over Scott, 13,327.

TEXAS.—nearly half the State heard from. Pierce returns largely a head of Scott, and the Texas papers estimate his majority at 8,000.

LOUISIANA.—Complete returns from this State gives Pierce 1,454 majority.

MISSOURI.—Eighty counties in Missouri give a majority for Pierce of 7,699.

VERMONT.—This State gives Scott a majority over both Pierce and Hale. The vote in 176 towns stands: Scott 16,639; Pierce 9,162; Hale 6,267. Vermont is truly the "Whig star that never sets"—always O. K.

Scott's majority 3,347!

If the votes (50 in number,) which were irregularly taken in several counties, be added to the above, they will reduce Scott's majority to 3,287.

A REMARKABLE ENTERPRISE.—The educated Deaf Mutes of the United States are engaged in the laudable enterprise of erecting, by subscriptions confined to themselves, a monument to the memory of their great benefactor, the late Rev. THOMAS H. GALLAUDET, L. L. D. Mr. Gallaudet first introduced the instruction of Deaf Mutes into this country, and established at Hartford, Connecticut, the first Institution for their instruction. This Institution is the mother of some fourteen or fifteen others now in operation in the United States, in which over one thousand of these unfortunates are annually receiving the precious boon of a christian education.

Mr. JOHN BLOUNT, one of the Deaf and Mute instructors of the Institution in this place, lately transmitted to the Treasurer of the proposed monument to Mr. Gallaudet, the sum of seventy-five dollars, raised among the present and former pupils of the Kentucky Institution.

A monument erected by such persons to such a man strikes us as something affectingly unique. The monumental marble raised in memory of the conquerors and destroyers of the earth, will perish, when that erected by these mute hearts to the memory of their benefactor will flourish in the abiding remembrance of the good upon earth.

It may not be improper to add in connection that the pupils of the Kentucky Institution for the Deaf and Dumb raised among themselves and forwarded ten dollars to the Washington Monument a year ago.

FOR SALT RIVER.—The members of the Boyle County Chippewa Club, and all other Whigs in good standing, will start on the anti-running steamer Winfield Scott, for the head of Salt River, "that roaring river wild," on the 4th of March next. As there will be considerable demand for tickets, they are offered to those wishing to secure passage on the boat, and can be had by applying to Col. A. I. Caldwell, Hon. J. F. Bell, Judge Fry, or W. C. Anderson, Esq. We understand that the accommodations at the head of the river are much superior to what they were in '44, as our Democratic friends expecting to reside there permanently, have made many improvements. We also understand that M. J. Durham, R. R. Bolling, and A. B. Richards, Esqs., and others who recently came down stream on the Gen. Pierce, wish to rent their Salt River property until 1856, and no longer, intending, thereafter, to occupy it themselves.

THE OVERWHELMING DEFEAT OF MR. SANDERS, FOR CONGRESS, IN THE LOUISVILLE DISTRICT, IS A SIGNAL REBUKE TO THE WORKING OF OUR GOVERNOR. Instead of appointing the election on the same day as that for President, he chose to subject the people to unnecessary expense and trouble by fixing upon another day, believing, we suppose, that he would thus assist in Mr. Sanders' triumph. We congratulate our worthy Executive upon the success of his scheme.

—Col. Benton, through his organ, the St. Louis Democrat, is giving the Fillibusters a severe expression of his disapproval of their course in reference to Cuba. Gov. Foote of Mississippi, gets a particular touch of "Old Bullion's" quality.

THE VICTORY.—A stranger coming, just now, into the country, might inquire whence all these signs of triumph—whence this exultation? What battle, indicated by cannon belching forth flame, has been gained? Whence these bonfires, and this extra inhibition of alcohol? He might ask whether some great victory over a foreign foe had been gained, or an important civic measure, vindicating American policy against foreign interests, been established.

The answer, says the Reading Journal, would be that the victory had been one gained by a portion of the American people over a man who devoted the whole of his life to their service, and who yet carries on his body the scars and in his body the bullets of the enemy—a victory won to gratify the capitalists of England in their warfare against American mechanics and working men—a victory which will gladden the London Times, and kindle bonfires in Liverpool, Manchester and Birmingham; that a man has been defeated by Americans, whom neither Indians nor British nor Mexicans could conquer. This is the glory—this the triumph!

—The cost of war, even upon a small scale, has been a good deal talked of since the election. The New York Express remarks that this country was a little more than two years at war with Great Britain, in 1812-'15, and during that short period the city of New York lost 25,000 of its inhabitants, and the value of city property fell over forty per cent. War with any nation, however weak, would be destructive to our commerce and our agriculture, as the latter would have no market abroad. The manufacturing interest is the only interest that would thrive.

The Scott Club at Knoxville, Tenn., have presented a beautiful gold watch to Jno. MILLER McKee, Esq., editor of the Register at that place, as a testimonial of his efficient labors in behalf of the good old Whig cause, during the recent canvass.

The Cincinnati Commercial remarks that a vegetable wonder has been presented to its editor, which is strikingly illustrative of Gen. Scott's fate at the late election—a mighty big beet.

HOGS.—ADVANCE IN PRICES.—We copy the following from the Louisville Courier of Wednesday last:

HUG SLAUGHTERING.—PRICES, &c.—The various packers in this city were in operation yesterday, though none of the houses are killing their full number. At Clifton, Atkinson & Co's pork house, 1,800 hogs were killed yesterday, and the number slaughtered at all the houses up to last evening is about 22,000. A. S. White & Co., at Jeffersonville, have not commenced killing yet.

Prices were firm yesterday, and for a lot of 500 hogs $5.65 was offered, which the drover refused, the prevailing price being $5.75.

The Madison Banner says that a firm in that city had purchased 9000 hogs since Thursday, at figures ranging from $5.40 to $5.75 net. The Madison Courier of Monday has the following:

We hear also of a sale, late Saturday night, of 1000 at $5.75. At noon to-day a sale of 3000 hogs at $5.75, and 10,000 pieces, on private terms, were reported.

The receipts of hogs at Madison up to this number 500 were shipped to this city.

A private telegraphic despatch from Cincinnati last evening states that "hogs for future delivery have declined to $5.60 net, being a decline of 40 cents."

Our despatches from Cincinnati last night contradicted the above report, and quote hogs firm at $6.00.

For the Kentucky Tribune.

Deposit Bank of Danville.

It will be seen from a notice in this paper, that the Commissioners appointed to open books to receive subscriptions for the capital stock, for the purpose of establishing a Deposit Bank of Danville, will attend for that purpose at the law office of C. B. Wallace, Esq., in Danville, on Wednesday, the 15th day of December, 1852. The books will be kept open from 10 o'clock A. M., until 2 o'clock P. M., of each day for ten days (Sundays excepted) and until the requisite amount of stock is subscribed.

We have recently examined the charter for said Bank, and are satisfied, should it be established, that it will prove to be a most valuable and advantageous institution.

We doubt, if any project recently advocated as a means of promoting the interests of this portion of the State, will prove of more advantage to every class of community. The high, the low, the rich, the poor; the mechanic, the farmer, the merchant, and tradesmen of all classes, will be benefited by this institution, should it go into operation. By the charter, the capital stock of the bank is limited to $50,000. It cannot commence operations until five hundred shares are subscribed, and until five thousand dollars of the capital stock is paid in, either by individuals, companies or corporations.

The charter will continue in force until the 1st day of June, 1853. The bank is allowed to hold and own ten thousand dollars of personal and real estate, goods, chattels and effects, as shall be convenient for the transaction of its business.

It is not allowed at any one time to owe—either by bond, bill, note or other contract, an amount exceeding twice the amount of capital stock actually paid in—exclusive of sums due on deposits.

The business of the institution will be to receive money on deposit, upon which it shall pay an interest to the Depositor of not more than six per cent, nor less than two per cent per annum; dependent upon the length of time for which said deposits may be made; to loan money, discount promissory notes being put on the same footing of foreign bills of exchange; it will have the power to deal or trade in gold or silver coin or bullion; or in the sale of goods, chattels, rights and credits, really and truly pledged for money lent, and not redeemed in time, or goods which shall be the proceeds of its lands. It will have and possess all the powers and privileges of ordinary Banking institutions, except the power to issue paper money.

The payment of the shares of the capital stock shall be in gold or silver coin or bullion, or notes of either of the banks or branch banks of the State. Five dollars is to be paid on each share to the commissioners at the time of subscribing, and five dollars on each share within ten days after the election of the first Board of Directors, and five dollars every sixty days thereafter, until the full amount of each share is paid—with the power, on the part of the Board, to prolong the time for the payment of each installment after one half of the amount of each share shall have been paid.

No individual company or corporation can hold more than one hundred shares of the capital stock, either for themselves or others, in order to transfer them.

The institution may receive on deposit gold or silver coin or bullion, or the paper currency of any bank or branches of banks in this State, or the paper currency of any of the banks in the States of the Union. It shall pay its deposit in currency of like kind and value of that deposited. To the trader, such an institution will be of vast service, as also, to the merchant, mechanic and farmer.

The charter is an admirable one, and well guarded. The chief objection we have to it, is the amount of the capital stock is not sufficient to supply the wants of the community. One half of a million of dollars would not be too much banking capital for this region of the State. The bank we have cannot begin to accommodate the wants of the people. She only loans to the county of Boyle about $100,000 per year. More than two thirds of the business of our present bank is outside of our county. Small loans on the very best paper cannot often be made. Men of small means and small business oftentimes have to pay a heavy per cent to private individuals, when large tradesmen command accommodations from our bank to the amount of thousands.

The business, the enterprise, and industry of this region of the State demands and requires the establishment of such an institution as is proposed.

Give to Danville two banks and a railroad, besides the advantages she now has, and she will be the center of enterprise, capital and industry, as she now is the seat of learning and the centre of our proud State.

The Legislature will not and cannot hesitate to increase the amount of the capital stock of this institution to any amount demanded by the wants of the people—for by doing so, the paper currency of the county will not be augmented. And should individuals desire to invest their capital in such an institution, the Legislature will not refuse them the privilege.

A HANDSOME COMPLIMENT.—The presentation of a service of plate to General Zollicoffer of the Nashville Banner by some of the Whigs of Tennessee for his labors in the late Presidential canvass was highly honorable to him and to them. Throughout the whole political battle, he fought with skill and energy. We have no doubt that his persevering and vigorous efforts contributed greatly to the saving of Tennessee from the general political wreck, and it is right that he should be honored — Lon. Jour.
